Dear Sirs:

During the years I spent in New York, the Kneisel Quartet and then the Flonzaley made musical history. Now the Parlow Strings are making it here and last Sunday's lovely playing seemed to say they could belong to the great, for they gain perfection almost with each performance. I hope with your co-operation we may continue to hear them. Though I am unacquainted with any of these artists, I hope also that they may be gratified with admiration from their unknown listeners.

Truly yours,

(sgd) F. J. Ross
